

THE HUB TALKING POINTS

The Hub is a community/discussion platform that all NAR committees will use, beginning in 2018, to conduct association business. Every NAR committee, work group, advisory board, and advisory group will have a Hub community beginning Nov. 15, 2017.

The Hub allows committees to operate with transparency but within a secure, members-only environment. Members can use The Hub to get to know one another, discuss committee business, share documents, and prepare for in-person meetings.

NAR's 2018 committee members will have a basic profile on the Hub, populated with information from the National REALTORS® Database System (NRDS). Your profile includes your name, company name, address, and phone number. You are encouraged to add a photo, and you have the option of adding bio information and a mobile phone number.

At your community home page, access your committee's purpose and any announcements posted by your staff executive, as well as recent discussions, shared files, and members.

You can take a variety of actions within your community, including the following:

- Post discussion topics relevant to your committee's work
- Reply to a discussion post
- Share a relevant file to the community's library
- Access files from the community's library

Brief video tutorials under "About the Hub" walk you through basic functions such as completing your profile, posting discussions, and setting your email notifications. We welcome and encourage your engagement!

Access the Hub at <https://thehub.realtor>, and sign in using your nar.realtor username and password. Download the Hub app at Apple iTunes or Google Play, and engage on the go.
